EASTWOOD VICTORIOUS!

Eastwood Photographic Society have just emerged victorious as "The Photography News and Fuji Camera Club Of The Year 2017-18." Following a series of 5 monthly competitions, culminating in the Final in May, with the submission of 20 images covering five different shoots, they emerged clear winners over the other 4 UK clubs.

Eastwood PS entered the Camera Club of the Year competition for the first time in October 2017. The competition is a joint venture between Photography News and Fuji. The competition format was 5 qualifying rounds, with each round having a set subject/theme. Each club required to enter 5 images from 5 different authors.

Eastwood won the 3rd round (Decisive Moment) with a score of 89/100 and thus qualified for the grand final in May 2018 which they were to win!

Eastwood was one of only five UK camera clubs to compete in the grand final, and was the sole Scottish representative.

The final team, who travelled down to Daventry, to represent the Club comprised Peter De Marco, Stuart McCann, Ken Lindsay and Colin McLatchie.

All the teams were invited to stay overnight at the Devere Staveron just outside Daventry where the teams met and mingled, swapped stories and anecdotes with both the Fuji and Photography news teams over a celebration meal, and familiarisation session with the Fuji cameras. The format for the actual 'final' being kept tightly under wraps, with a few surprises in store for the following day!

The Eastwood team had to each complete 5 separate shoots, with each shoot being a differing theme, and using a differing Fuji camera for the shot. Each shoot lasted 1 hour, and at the end we had to submit a total of 20 images. This page shows four of these final images (Top R by Stuart McCann; Middle R by Peter De Marco; Bottom R by Colin McLatchie and Bottom L by Ken Lindsay)
